

Think Twice Lyrics, Groove Armada, 2002 close your eyes and lose the feeling that's been sinking close your eyes and count to three close your eyes rewind, I know just what you're thinking close your eyes and think of me

Larger than life niceties bigger than you, more than me I've got the monday morning blues and oh my god I've got the home for you and give the everyday morning you...use there's things right here I can't afford to choose

CHORUS

sincere, caramel, champagne, down drain, tell him, no gain it's so damn physical it will sustain and too damn technicolor to refrain and much too taxing for my little brain why do we never know enough of happy ends? why do they never show? all the times that we have been so good and caring how many times we'll never know

CHORUS X2

Packed it like a punch out to lunch I got a little hunch that stood out from the bunch as if that's not a enough I need another reason why that god damn bitch of life she made me cry so I'd like to poke her squarely in the eye and it hurt so much I feel like I could die yeah
